Ambu® Airway Man W + I

The Ambu Airway Man is a highly developed instruction- and training manikin that provides a remarkably lifelike representation of the human anatomy, particularly those features important to training in modern resuscitation.

Connection free

The Airway Man does not need cables or wires, which means it can be placed away from computers and power supplies. This gives a great amount of freedom while training and because there are no wires or cables lying around it gives an even more realistic scenario.

Mechanical Instrument

Version W:

The Airway Man W (Wireless) models are equipped with a mechanical monitoring instrument as well as digital sensors showing effectiveness of the resuscitation.

It also shows results achieved for insufflations volume and depth of external chest compression, as well as it indicates any stomach inflation and incorrect hand positioning.

Airway Man W models can be connected to a computer through USB or WLAN using the Ambu CPR-Software for a more detailed analysis of the performed resuscitation.

Version I:

The Airway Man I (Instrument) models are equipped with a mechanical monitoring instrument showing effectiveness of the resuscitation, including results achieved for ventilation volume and depth of external chest compression. Moreover it indicates any stomach inflation and incorrect hand positioning.
